

I give all my tangible personal property, specifically exempting any securities, choses in action, money, bank accounts, promissory notes, debentures, shares of stock, and other intangibles, together with any insurance on any such property, to _____.

This gift is unconditional, but it is my wish that _____ distribute certain items of the property given him hereunder to certain persons in the manner in which I may from time to time suggest, or in such a manner as _____ may believe I wish the property to be distributed. The wish expressed in this paragraph is precatory only, and not mandatory.
